MEETING TONIGHT.

At City Hall Called By Chairman Gatch of the Reception Committee.

About $200 Raised By the Second Committee—The Two Funds to Be United.

Frank Davey of the Finance committee to raise $200 to return volunteers who will come to Salem from town south submitted a report Wednesday night. It says in part:

"We have met some liberal responses as will appear by the subscription list hereto attached. We find, however, some general objections which convince us that it will be exceedingly difficult, if not impossible, to obtain the amount required as a separate fund from the one previously subscribed for the purpose of entertainment."

The subscription list aggregates $189.50, and the subscribers and the respective amounts are:

A. B. Gillis	25.00
J. Conner	25.00
S. Friedman	25.00
T. T. Geer	20.00
C. S. Moore	20.00
Tilmon Ford	20.00
Neckerman & Rogers	20.00
S. Klinger	10.00
F. R. Anson	10.00
C. H. Lane	2.00
Patton Bros.	5.00
Butte & Wenderoth	5.00
M. L. Hamilton	5.00
F. Goulet	5.00
Salem Flouring Mills, per H. B. Holland	5.00
R. H. Leabo	2.50
Total	$189.50

MEETING TONIGHT.

Claid Gatch, general chairman of the Oregon Volunteer reception details, has issued a call for a meeting at the city hall tonight at 9 o'clock. He wants all the citizens to turn out, as well as those who subscribed to the fund towards paying the expenses of a fitting celebration in honor of the volunteers.

The object of the meeting is to decide whether the subscriptions to the first or ($200) shall be transferred to the aid of the committee appointed at the meeting on Tuesday night last to raise money for use in transporting the soldiers from San Francisco to Salem. Mr. Gatch was asked by the latter committee to do this, but he feels that he has not the power to act without the consent of the citizens, especially those who pledged themselves to raise the necessary amount of coin thought to be required for the purpose.

HENRY VILLARD.

The German Railway Promoter Arrives on a Special Train.

The Party Taken for a Drive Over the City by Superintendent Richard Koehler.

Henry Villard, who was one of the builders of the Northern Pacific railroad, and who has not been in Salem to stop since 1883—he passed through in 1891—arrived on a special train at 11 a. m. He is traveling to Eugene, when he returns to Portland.

Mr. Villard is the most prominent man identified with railroad building and the development of the Pacific Northwest.

He organized and built the O. R. & N. Ry. and organized the transcontinental association and was president of it when it owned the present Oregon & California line. It would take a volume to give a record of the enterprises to which the Edison of railroad enterprises has lent a hand.

The Villard party is composed of Mr. and Mrs. Villard, Mr. and Mrs. Villard, Jr., Prof. Gregory of the University of Wisconsin, Superintendent Richard Koehler of the Southern Pacific was in charge of the party, who travelled in a special train made up of Mr. Villard's private Pullman car, the Edgemoor, and Sup. Koehler's private car, the California. Mr. Villard stepped off the train and was met by agent W. W. Skinner of Salem, an old friend, who was greeted very cordially.

The real head of the Gold Standard Democracy of New York was next met by a JOURNAL representative who received a cordial invitation to apply the pump. Henry Villard looks the picture of health, and time has made no encroachments on his well-preserved vigorous body and mind. He dresses in gray and presents the solid appearance of an educated military German of the official or titled class. Mrs. Villard is also a very fine looking woman of splendid figure and graceful carriage. They spent most of last year in Germany and have been stopping at Portland for some time. They will visit old friends at Eugene, where Mr. Villard is interested in the State University, to the founding of which he presented an endowment of $50,000.

As they entered carriages that had been provided by Mr. Skinner, for a drive over the city and suburbs, Mr. Villard's face lighted with pleasure and he said: "I have heard a great deal about the growth and improvement of Salem since I was here sixteen years ago, and expect to be agreeably surprised with what I find."

Whatever improvement Mr. Villard finds in the development of the country, he will no doubt find that there have been equal improvements in the railroad system of which he has been a friend—the S. P. Co. lines. It is a statement made from close observation of the writer, and a practical knowledge extending from preliminary surveys to riding over all the great American railways, that there is no better managed piece of railroad property in our country than the S. P. lines in Oregon. This remark includes train service, business management and all—from Sup. Koehler to section foreman Prunty, gentlemen who are too modest to say such a thing or ask anyone to say it.

The Villard party drove over the city calling at the state house, and taking their train so as to arrive at Eugene at 2:10.

EUGENE, Aug. 3.—A grand reception was given the Villard party upon its arrival in this city.

Immediately on the arrival of the special Mr. Villard's party was conveyed to the University and in a short program, was formally welcomed. The remainder of the time spent in this city will be devoted to various matters. The public were invited to attend the exercises to be held in Villard Hall.

The Guard says:—No man has done so much for the Oregon State University as has Henry Villard. Redeemed it from bankruptcy and placed it on its feet when it was hopeless. And now since the University is an essential and very important part of Eugene, it becomes every citizen of the best city in the Willamette valley to render proper respect to the man above all others, who has so largely contributed to its success and made possible the flourishing and prosperous condition which it enjoys today.

The total gifts to the university amount to $20,750, from which it has enjoyed for years an income of $3000 a year.

Prof. Montague

Palmist and Mind Reader

Prof. Montague said to a reporter today. "I put a small ad in the DAILY JOURNAL Tuesday. I did not expect any callers that evening but the parlors were full and was kept busy until 9:30 reading palms. Those having called upon the professor give him credit of being the greatest palmist that has ever visited Salem. They say it is wonderful what he can tell you by looking into your palm, he will tell your past, present and future. He will also diagnose your physical complaint. The professor has a wonderful tonic, a nerve and tissue builder. It does not matter what the nature of your ailments may be, by the use of this medicine you can be cured. This is a purely herb tonic. Thousands have been cured by the use of this medicine. The professor cares only to give this tonic to those that the doctors have failed to cure or even give relief; his parlors are at the Chatwin House, 216 Church street. Hours from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m.

The remainder of the time spent in this city will be devoted to various matters. The public were invited to attend the exercises to be held in Villard Hall.

The Guard says:—No man has done so much for the Oregon State University as has Henry Villard. Redeemed it from bankruptcy and placed it on its feet when it was hopeless. And now since the University is an essential and very important part of Eugene, it becomes every citizen of the best city in the Willamette valley to render proper respect to the man above all others, who has so largely contributed to its success and made possible the flourishing and prosperous condition which it enjoys today.
